Murry's Saloon.

THE Subscriber having taken charge of MURRY'S POPULAR SALOON, would say to his numerous patrons that he has added a new

Ladies' Department, which is on the first floor, (entrance same as before,) fourth door on Kenduskeag Street, and he modestly claims to have the best Ladies' Saloon this side of Boston, where, with the assistance of female attendants he will promptly attend to their calls for refreshments, such as Oysters, Ice Cream, and Fancy Cakes of all kinds, Fruit and Confectionery.

He still retains the services of Mr. G. D. ROBINSON, who is one of, if not the best, Pastry Cook in the State, who will attend to their orders for Wedding and Fancy Cakes, Charlotte Rousse, Frozen Pudding, Neapolitan Shortcake, Roman Punch, &c.; Meats and Game of all kinds, cooked and served in a superior style.

To his gentlemen patrons he would say, that he has made arrangements to be supplied with the best

New York and Virginia Oysters, which will be served up in his superior styles, as at no other saloon in this section can be had.

Orders solicited from the surrounding towns for Wedding and Fancy Cakes, which will be carefully packed and found according to directions.

Orders delivered in any part of the city.

In conclusion, I would say, I aim to have the assistance of my father (in case of need,) at 6am. for any particular. All of which is respectfully submitted.

THE Florence Sewing Machine,

Like "Gold Tried in the Fire,"

Is neither consumed nor injured by competition and opposition, fair or unfair. Although companies, claiming to combine to crush the young and SUFFLE "FLORENCE," their efforts are unavailing.

IT IS A FIXED FACT

That its reputation is strengthened by every fair, practical and intelligent trial. It stands the practical test of PRACTICAL SEWING upon a greater range of work than any other Family Sewing Machine in use.

It is Simple in its Construction.

If any intelligent person tells you that it is complicated, refer it and examine the Machine for yourself. It will do ALL that it is recommended to do. If you are told by the "disinterested" that the "Florence" will not run with linen thread, come and see it tried, and you will be thoroughly convinced that said statement is wholly wrong.

The "Florence" never fails to give entire satisfaction, after a Fair, Practical, Intelligent Trial.

EVERY MACHINE IS WARRANTED.

No risks sustained in purchasing these machines. All are respectfully invited to call and investigate them.

Pulpit Orator in England.

[illegible]

Having now entered upon a great variety of what is considered the best pulpit oratory in London, where the English pulpit is found the representative, I am about to give you my deductions obtained in the midst of it, and I shall be compelled to make comparisons between English and American pulpit eloquence or you would have no standard on judgement by which to apply the statements.

We may say at first, I shall make that dissonant subdivision of the English denominations which are recognized by everybody here in England. First of all are the Church of England and Nonconformists; and then the Nonconformists are subdivided into Churchmen, Wesleyans, Dissenters. The Dissenters, of course, are subdivided into Congregationalists, Baptists, Unitarians, Universalists, and so forth in the United States and there about it. But the Church of England stands first. Next to the Church comes the Wesleyans, who are thus a numerous people existing of their immediate followers, and the Nonconformists are divided as

THE MURDERS IN CUBA.

In a letter from Washington giving the re of the examination of the records of our with Spain in reference to the Cu Dixon, of the Boston Advert
the following statement of the de tion of our Government authorities with re gard to the alleged outrages upon American citizens:

"Of course we must do what we can protect such citizens of the United States a may be in Cuba. In all the files of the Stat Department there is nothing to show that th
President has failed of his full duty in th regard. I very well know that some of th extreme Cuban sympathizers talk in a larg way of murdered Americans, but it is easy talk when fact is set aside for imagination
A year very has been made about Woodhull Spaniman, shot at Santiago, in June of last year. They were of the men on the schoo er Grape Shot, unquestionably sent out for the benefit of the Junta. As soon as news their capture and execution was received th President sent Admiral Hoff to investiga the matter, and in due course of time de mand was made on Spain for reparation. It has been constantly assumed that those men were on no hostile intent, but I happen to know that Spain has presented strong proof showing that both knew the illegal object of the expedition, and took the risk just as oth ers engaged in it did. The case is still under investigation. In another case Spain prove that the person murdered, a naturalized citizen of our country, had rendered himself liable by returning to Cuba and put ting himself under the Spaning law. In another instance, two persons, who had been convicted of treason, were, at our request, re leased on condition that they leave the land. And, so far as I am aware, in no single case has yet been brought to the notice of the Department, in which it is clear that the honor of our flag suffers, tarnish by a murder under its folds. Facts are one thing and tum combe is quite another.

"In the great majority of cases about which a noise is made, the persons executed, with or without the form of trial and condemnation, are men who came here, were naturalized,
and then went back to the island to live naturalization being a farce by pretended Those who availed themselves of it never took any of the burdens of American citizen sort in Cuba. Their existence is but one of the proofs that our naturalization laws need amendment. In the way treaties with Prus

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS---SECOND SESSION.

WASHINGTON, June 30.

SENATE.

The House amendments to the bill to prevent the extermination of fur bearing animals in Alaska, occupied the morning hour.

Mr. Wilson moved to limit the franchises of the seal fishing Company under the bill to 5 instead of 20 years. Lost, 18 to 44 and the House amendments were concurred in 42 to 9.

Mr. Sumner from the Com. on Foreign Relations reported joint resolutions authorizing the investigation and survey of the Tehuantepec and Nicaragua route for a ship canal between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans; that the same Committee be discharged from further consideration of the joint resolution for a ship canal survey across the Isthmus of Darien, and that the various memorials on the subject be indefinitely postponed.

At 1 o'clock, the Senate went into Executive session and resumed the consideration of the San Domingo treaty.

Mr. Morrill continued his speech against the ratification of the treaty. After Mr. Morrill had concluded his speech, the Senate proceeded to vote on the amendments proposed by the President of the United States, some of which were accepted. The vote was then taken on the ratification of the treaty and resulted in 28 yeas against 28 nays. A two-thirds vote being required the treaty was rejected. A number of the members paired off and others were silent. The opponents of the measure say that they could have rejected it without the aid of the Democratic vote.

The Senate then resumed the tax tariff bill, and after debate, fixed the duty on steel railway bars made in part of steel, at 1 cent. per pound. The amendment to impose 20 per cent. duty on slates for roofing, was rejected 19 to 27.

Mr. Morrill of Vt. moved to insert on sword blades, &c., 35 per cent. ad valorem; on barrels, &c., 35 per cent. ad valorem, and on watch movements, 35 per cent. ad valorem, which was agreed to.

Mr. Sumner moved to place on the free-list, books in the languages, of which no publication is made in the United States; also books, &c., relating to science and the arts.

Mr. Anthony moved that paintings and works of art imported for the encouragement of American artists be admitted free of duty in any Custom House, to be imported without duty, upon application by the owner, &c.

The Senate then took a recess.

HOUSE.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill to amend the Indian appropriation bill.

The report was agreed to, and the House non concurred in the Senate amendments, except where the same were agreed to, and where further action was required.

After a long discussion the amendment of the Committee on Appropriations to strike out the amendment forbidding the payment of Indian annuities to persons on account of depredations committed by Indians, was concurred in.

A Committee of Conference was ordered on the disagreeing votes of the House and Senate on the bill to establish the Industrial Institute, Nebraska and Post office.

A bill was passed to amend the act to prevent the importation of obscene books, pictures, &c., into the United States, and the act to prevent the importation of adulterated and spurious teas and coffees, and to provide for the appointment of additional Appraisers of Merchandise at Chicago, Philadelphia, New Orleans, San Francisco, Boston, and the Falls of St. Anthony, Minnesota, and for the appointment of Appraisers at the ports of Baltimore, Portland, Oswego, Genesee, Milwaukee, Detroit, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Alleghany City, Cleveland, Chicago, Dubuque, Burlington, Iowa, Omaha, Nebraska, Portland, Oregon, Puget Sound, Washington Territory, Alexandria, Virginia, Richmond, Virginia, Wilmington, North Carolina, Charleston, South Carolina, Savannah, Georgia, Mobile, Alabama, Galveston, Texas, Key West, Florida, Natchez, Mississippi, Memphis, Tennessee, Nashville, Tennessee, Louisville, Kentucky, Saint Louis, Missouri, Saint Paul, Minnesota, Saint Anthony, Minnesota, Duluth, Minnesota, Saint Louis River, Minnesota, Superior City, Wisconsin, Bayfield, Wisconsin, Ashland, Wisconsin, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Sheboygan, Wisconsin, Manitowoc, Wisconsin, Two Rivers, Wisconsin, Kewaunee, Wisconsin, Green Bay, Wisconsin, Menominee, Michigan, Grand Haven, Michigan, Muskegon, Michigan, Grand River, Michigan, Michigan City, Indiana, Chicago, Illinois, Cairo, Illinois, Saint Louis, Missouri, Burlington, Iowa, Dubuque

Indians and half-breeds may be seen at all hours of the summer day [illegible] spearing out splendid white-fish. Two or [illegible] soon go off in each canoe. The canoe will [illegible] to a dashing stream by the bow, steady as though held by anchor. They go right out into the most turbulent parts of the channel. One man sits in the stern of the canoe, and with his single oar holds her in the same position for a long time, her bow parting the waters beautifully. To the spectator ashore it frequently looks very hazardous. There is quite an art in the management of the frail little shell in such a position. The Indian who handles the net dips it quickly at the right moment and locality, and takes in his fish as the noble fellow is heading courageously against the current. This fishing is laborious, but very exciting, and frequently pays well. A score of canoes out in the rapids at a time when the fish are plenty produces a scene of high excitement among the spectators on the shore, who probably have just landed from the steamboat on their first trip to Lake Superior.—Lippincott's Magazine for July.

WHERE TO PLACE A THERMOMETER.—When hot weather comes, thermometers always try to outdo each other in the amount of heat that their instrument shows. "My glass read 80 degrees in the shade," says one. "Mine gave 91 degrees," says another. "Bless you! mine rose to ninety-nine, chimes a third; and each of his temperature is the truth. The correct reading of a thermometer depends to a very great extent upon its position with regard to surrounding objects, buildings, and the like. One of the greatest difficulties a conscientious meteorologist has to contend with is that of placing his instrument so as to obtain the true temperature of the free air. They may be apparently situated in the proximate wall, upon which the sun shines, many hours well-nigh as long as the direct solar rays; or they may be protected by surrounding buildings, which are in a reservoir of stagnant air, which, by the heat which it receives until it has acquired a veritable hot well; or again, they are near the ground as to receive its exhalations, which are much hotter than the air above the soil. Several boys, desirous of a holiday, disposed about a building in a manner seemingly good, will differ in their latitude to the extent of eight or ten degrees. One in a sheltered corner, looking north will read low; another, upon or near a south wall, will be too high. Judgment and prudence are required to mount a glass case in such a fashion that it will be in a current of air, shielded from the sun, and protected from the radiation of neighboring objects. He who buys a thermometer without knowing anything more of its scale, and sets it up outside his door, or against his garden wall, without regard to the above conditions, deludes himself with readings, and misleads everybody whom he communicates them.

COMFORT FROM OCTOGENARIAN.—When you are eighty years old, good reader, you can soliloquize after this fashion:

I have become very deaf. What a blessing! There is such a lot of silly talk I can now escape—such scandals, etc.

My eyes are failing. How fortunate! I do not see a tithe of the folly and vice that is going on around me. I am not annoyed by disagreeable faces, and my own features thus provoke no one to criticism.

I have lost my teeth, and my voice is very inaudible. Well, I find it is no use talking to folks who won't listen, so it is a mercy to husband breath for better purposes. I don't miss my teeth where I can't bite. I venture only on tough meat.

My taste is not so discriminating as it was, and the good is that I am thereby more easily satisfied, don't keep finding fault with my food, am contented and thankful. A nice palate is a curse. I have got rid of it.

My joints are rather stiff. Well! when I was younger so supple, I do not want to see the sights, hear concerts, make calls, or patronize restaurants or caterers to feasts.

I am not so strong as I was; but then I do not need to; be stout? I am not a wrestler or fighter with anybody. My relations are generally improved.

My brain is not so clear as in my younger days, therefore I am neither so hot-headed nor opinionated, I forget a thousand injuries."

FATHER HYACINTHE ON TEMPERANCE.—The following letter has been received from Father HYACINTHE, in reply to one informing him that he had been elected an honorary member of the French Temperance Society of Syracuse:

To Dr. J. N. Cadilliz, Corresponding Secretary of the French Temperance and Educational Society, of Syracuse, N. Y., America:

SIR MONSIEUR,—I am deeply sensible of the honor done by La Societe Francaise de Temperance et d'Educational de Syracuse, in manifesting me an honorary member, and although en voyage, I hasten to send you my acceptance and my thanks.

The same blood, the same language, the same religion, unite me more intimately to you across that ocean which I have traversed to visit the great Cosmopolitan Republic. How proud, how happy I am of every intelligent, honest and generous effort made by compatriots in the work of civilization and Christian progress, which seems to be reserved to that New continent!

Temperance, in substituting for the enjoyments of senses which degrade man, the enjoyments of the mind, the heart and the soul which elevate him, is one of the most essential features, in matter of education widely, nay, universally diffused, he would have the power to create a new humanity as the latter is to be barbarism.

Please accept, Monsieur, for you and the members of your honorable Society, with the expression of my gratitude, that of my sentiments of brotherhood, and, devoted regards.

HYACINTHE LOYSON.

Munich, May 10, 1870.

EUGENIE'S FONDNESS.—The Empress Eugenie a few days since told a deputy du midi a little anecdote, quite a pendant to the history of a similar episode in the life of the Empress Josephine. Said the Empress to the deputy: "One day in the summer of 1860, being very fond of the Empress, as my words annually was, I was at the East Bonnes, when I was met in the country by an old woman named Mariamette, who was universally con-

[illegible] Mariamette, and I gave her, much to her astonishment, a piece of gold, upon which she looked in my face steadily for a moment, and then said, 'They say I am mad I know, but I am not mad, though I speak as plainly to you as a Spaniard, was any such a prospect, that I only entertained it as a wild raving, but on the very day I became an Empress that fact reverted vividly to my mind; and I caused inquiry to be made for Mariamette, who I was glad to grant her a pension for life, but learned with regret, that she had died two days before."

MARK TWAIN has had his fortune told and here is the result:—"Yours was not, in the beginning, a criminal nature, but circumstances changed it:—At the age of nine you stole sugar; at fifteen you stole money; at twenty you stole horses; at twenty-five you committed arson; at thirty—hard work in crime—you became an outlaw. Since then your career has been rapid. You are now a public lecturer. Worse things are in store for you—you will be sent to Congress next to the penitentiary and then finally, happiness will come to you again—all will be well—you will be hanged."
